Brief Summary

Hi there! My name is Ryan. Previously a student of Engineering at TUD Dublin, I took the leap into software development and have been honing my skills ever since. I have an affinity for new technologies and personal development/learning. With an extensive background in both sales and operations, I'm a valuable team-player with effective problem-solving capabilities. I'm eager to enter the tech industry to join an exciting team where I can continue to grow and contribute immensely!
